CIVILITY CENTER OPENS DOORS IN CANADA

The Civility Center envisions a civil world and works to provide services and supports to individuals and organizations who choose civility as a core personal and/or professional value.

The Center was established in 2001 by Kent Roberts and Jay Neuman. For the past 18 years the Center operated nationally and was based in Muscatine, Iowa. Early 2017, Lewena Bayer, CEO of Civility Experts Inc. took over Roberts' role as Executive Director of the Center. In order to facilitate funding requirements and leverage the supports the Canadian-based Civility Experts Inc. can provide, the Center has been relocated to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. "It is a tremendous privilege to represent the Center, and it is our ardent intention to build on the legacy, goodwill and good work the Center has achieved over the years," states Bayer

The Center serves as a support for anyone with an interest in promoting civility. Services include a comprehensive toolkit (available at no fee- over 1000 items) at www.civilitycenter.org, a speakers bureau, publishing opportunities for social impact authors, presentations, certifications (including online courses) and training.

Jacqueline Moore, President of the Center states, "This is an exciting move for us! It reflects our abiding commitment to our work and continuous improvement in our processes. We are inspired to seize the opportunity to inspire and support efforts to increase civility in families, schools, workplaces, communities, and around the world."
